

52 Broadway - 18th Fl.
New York, NY 10004

Citywide Literacy
Professional Learning
Opportunity

for PreK–12 Educators

United Federation of Teachers
MICHAEL MULGREW
President

THE NEXT GENERATION STANDARDS

CLASSROOM DISCUSSION FOR THE 21st CENTURY

Sunday, October 6, 2019
9:00 a.m. – 1:00 p.m.

UFT Manhattan Headquarters
52 Broadway • New York, NY 10004

This interactive four-hour citywide literacy conference will examine the importance of classroom discussion for 21st century learners. Participants will engage in speaking and listening practices which ignite imagination, foster deep discussion and support all students, including culturally and linguistically diverse learners. The instructional shifts necessary to transform teaching to include authentic learning and achieve the Next Generation Learning Standards will be explored.

Outcomes

- Examine the Next Generation Speaking and Listening Anchor Standards and the emphasis on deepening comprehension, critical thinking and engagement across content areas.
- Explore discussion routines to support thinking and learning for linguistically and culturally diverse learners.
- Engage in classroom discussion strategies aligned with Next Generation Learning Standards and 21st Century learning.

Online Registration

- Registration is required. Register online at: www.ufttc.org/literacy_citywidefall2019
- Select conference title to register.
- CTLE hours are available.

Conference Cost

- $65.00 for Teachers, CTLE Certificate
- $40.00 for Paraprofessionals, CTLE Certificate
- $15.00 for Non-CTLE